

Mary Morstan

Mary Morstan was the daughter of captain Arthur Morstan. Her father died under mysterious circumstances, when he was stationed near the Andaman Islands. Her mother died shortly after giving birth to her. Mary Morstan is mostly known as the wife of doctor Watson, the partner of the famous private detective Sherlock Holmes. She was a governess. Doctor Watson met her when he and Holmes were hired by her to investigate a case. They married in 1889. She died not long after marrying Watson, under unknown circumstances. There have been many rumours about Mary Morstan, which made her character grow to almost mythical proportions. One of the most persistent rumours is that she was a spy or assassin and in fact used doctor Watson for her own personal agenda. Another, related, story is that she sacrificed herself to save Sherlock Holmes from receiving a bullet, which nearly caused an end to the partnership of Holmes and Watson. According to some she was pregnant when she died.

Metadata

Mary Morstan

Full name	Mary Morstan
Prefix
First name	Mary
Infix
Last name	Morstan/Watson
Suffix
Title
Keyname	Morstan
Alias

Gender: male

Birth and death

Date	Location	Event type (birth, baptism, death, funeral)
Circa 1861	England	birth
After 1889		death

Education

Topic	Location	Begin date	End date	result
General education	England	-	Circa 1878	unknown

Contributions (ideas, creations, etc)

None

Personal, professional and social roles

Wife of doctor Watson.

Possible spy/assassin.

Residence

Begin date	End date	Location
Circa 1861	After 1889	England

Circa 2323	Circa 2328	San Francisco
Circa 2328	Now	Space

Category/Type of Person

Spous(e) of famous person

Claim of Fame

Possible spy or assassin